June 26, 2016: The American Maritime Modernization Association (AMMA) Board of Directors newly elected Carl Spraberry, CEO of Advanced Integrated Technologies (AIT) to serve as its President and Robert Blenner, Program Manager of Surface Ships for Delphinus Engineering as Vice President. Continuing in their leadership positions are: Joseph Yurso of Q.E.D. Systems, Chairman; Nick Clark of George G. Sharp as Treasurer, Sondra Mayfield of Advex as Secretary, and Directors Bill Wren of ECFR and Mike Crabbs of L-3.

Established in 2002, the non-profit 501(c)6 American Maritime Modernization Association (AMMA) promotes the accomplishment of cost-effective, professional, and high quality shipboard maintenance and modernization through the use of best value commercial sources. We advocate that our specialized maritime services companies enhance both the advancement of shipyard work quality and efficiency. AMMA's principal goal is to maximize cooperation and communication among maritime modernization industry experts.
